BEYOND THE BATES BUBBLE

STUDYING ABROAD

The Bates Bubble, as it is known on campus, is a metaphor for the imaginary shield that seemingly separates our reality here at Bates from the reality of the real world. While it is not fair to say that students aren't mindful of things happening off-campus (besides knowing that there are parties at Shapiro and 75 Elm this weekend), or that the events of our daily lives aren't "real," it is true that our busy schedules filled with academics, extracurriculars, and athletics make it easy to become fully immersed in our immediate environment.

But for those who choose and are able, Bates encourages students to step beyond its invisible boundaries for a month, for a semester, or for a year at a time. Whether it is as close as a two-hour bus ride or as far as several excruciating layovers away, going abroad is so much more than the chance to simply study in another place - it is the opportunity to embrace a life beyond what we already know.

Africana Club

The purpose of the Africana club is to celebrate the African continent and its people. We achieve this by fostering an awareness of the peoples, histories, and cultures of Africa on the Bates campus. Furthermore, the club creates a platform on which all students on campus interested in Africa can interact with each other closely and also share their thoughts, and experiences with the Bates community at large. Similarly, Africana club brings together students who want to study abroad in Africa and those who have been or lived there. The club also develops an avenue for connecting its members with Bates alumni who have interests and/or connections with the African continent.

Alliance of Students Against Poverty (ASAP)

According to a UNICEF report, 26,500-30,000 children die each day due to poverty. And they die quietly in some of the poorest villages on earth, far removed from the scrutiny and the conscience of the world. Being meek and weak in life makes these dying multitudes even more invisible in death. Do these figures upset you? Does this seem "ok" to you? It sure doesn't to us. We think it is high time we got together and act. That is what the Alliance of Students Against Poverty (ASAP) initiative is all about. We can be the generation that ends poverty.

Amandla!

The purpose of Amandla! is to cultivate solidarity among students of African descent at Bates College. We are committed to providing a forum where one can express social, intellectual, political, and cultural concerns of students of African descent. It is our mission to promote global causes that directly affect people of the African Diaspora and foster a campus and local community understanding of the rich lives and cultures of people of African descent. Through organizing events and programs that raise cultural and political awareness of Black people on campus, Amandla! hopes to ignite racial tolerance and social change in our communities.

Amnesty International Club

The purpose of the Bates College Amnesty International Club is to create awareness among the student population of global humanitarian rights abuses and generate action through demonstrations, vigils, letter writing, speakers, email petitions and partnerships with local community groups. At Bates College we will have weekly meetings, recruit speakers, show eye-opening films, and have a lunch hour at Commons open to all students as a forum for letter writing. The focus of this organization will be on issues of violence against women, rights of the impoverished, the abolishment of the death penalty, torture, wrongful imprisonment, refugee and migrant rights and the global arms trade.

The Anime Club

The Anime Club meets once a week on Sundays to watch episodes of Japanese anime series or movies. The meetings typically last for an hour to two hours and are a great way to learn about anime and take a study break. In the past, we've watched the now popular Kenshin series, Samurai X, and movies by director Hayao Miyazaki, among others.

Bates Aviators

The Bates Aviators are students, faculty and staff who love to fly, talk about flying, and actually learn to fly. College may be the best time in your life to fly while you have the time. The Aviators connects students with ground and flight training at the nearby Lewiston/Auburn airport.

Badminton Club

The Badminton Club offers an opportunity for Bates students to play badminton in a relaxed setting on campus. All equipment is provided and no experience is necessary. We'll teach you how to play or challenge you to a game. Its a great way to have fun on the weekend!

Baháí Association

The Bates College Baháí Association promotes the unity of mankind and the principles of the Baháí Faith such as the need for equal rights and privileges for men and women of all backgrounds, the harmony of science and religion, and the unfettered search after truth. The Association, open to all members of the College community and their families, aims to foster understanding, love, and fellowship in the Bates community through lectures and other public meetings, social gatherings, and service projects.

The Bates Ballroom Society

The Bates Ballroom Society is an organization run entirely by students and is open to anyone, including faculty and members of the community, who would like to learn how to dance. All levels of experience are welcome and no partner is necessary! The club sponsors a beginner class once a week for 1.5 hours, for which PE credit can be earned if all classes of the semester are attended. These PE classes focus on social dances such as swing, salsa, tango, waltz and many others. Those who are interested in learning these dances at a more advanced level are invited to join the competition team practices two to three times a week which focus on preparing students to compete at the inter-collegiate competitions. The club caters to a wide variety of interest and commitment from social dancing to the technical skills necessary for competitions.

Bates Book Club

The club is an organization where students meet to discuss books. Some of the books read last semester were Jonathan Safran Foer's "Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close," Chuck Palahniuk's "Fight Club," and Truman Capote's, "In Cold Blood." Meetings are used to discuss the books and to choose the next read. Attendance at meetings is never mandatory and students can always choose to not read the book for a certain session and wait for the next one.

Bates Buddies

Bates Buddies is a club that fosters the relationship between Bates and the Lewiston community. Pairs of Bates students volunteer weekly at a local elementary school during recess and lunch with a group of three to five children. For only one hour per week, Bates students act as mentors and role models to local first, second and third graders. Bates Buddies is a great way for students to get off campus and become engaged in the community in a fun way!

Bates Building Houses

This club works with organizations like Habitat for Humanity to build affordable housing in Lewiston and the surrounding area. No experience necessary–you will learn everything you need to know on site.

Bates College Television Network

BCTV is a small, student operated, closed circuit television station transmitting on two channels of the college's video network. Now in our eighth-year of operation, we have produced live sports shows, a late night format show, an investigative reporting program, phone-in panel discussions, and a weekly news show.

Catholic Student Community

The Catholic Student Community is the Roman Catholic affiliated organization at Bates College. The group works alongside the College's Catholic Chaplain in organizing weekly Sunday Mass and other spiritual activities such as prayer/discussion meetings and dinner meetings. The group is also active in the Lewiston community, volunteering with local churches and charitable organizations.

The Chase Hall Committee

The Chase Hall Committee is the primary, student run, programming board on campus. Working with a traditionally large budget, the club plans, publicizes, and runs a variety of events over the course of the year and into Short Term. Events include, but are not obligatory, a major music concert, a comedy series, the Halloween and 80's Dance, Big Prize Bingo, Drop Everything and Play aka DEAP (a free music and activities event during short term), the coordination of the nation's 2nd oldest, Winter Carnival and other various fun, diverse acts. This is a great way to interact with the student body, learn event planning and marketing skills, as well as get your voice heard in the booking of campus entertainment.

Chess Club

The members of the Bates College Chess Club are people who love to play chess. There are people from a variety of levels, from just learning the names of the pieces and what each piece does to being able to practice advance strategies from a number of possibilities. No matter what skill level you are, everyone is welcome and encouraged to come and play. We meet once a week and run tournaments as well. We have even had an intercollegiate tournament in the past.

Bates Christian Fellowship

The purpose of BCF is to encourage and equip students to follow Jesus Christ as Lord. We strive to grow in love for God and God's people of every ethnicity and culture, and to come to a deeper understanding of the Scriptures and of God's purposes in the world. We organize various small groups that usually meet weekly for Bible study, discussion of pertinent issues, or prayer. There are also weekly Wednesday meetings for a time of worship, sharing and teaching. Various social activities are held throughout the year for relationship and community building, and oftentimes just for fun! Our activities are always open to the entire Bates Community. BCF is associated with InterVarsity Christian Fellowship.

Christian Science Organization

Bates Christian Science Organization is a group dedicated to supporting and pro-actively encouraging a spiritually uplifted campus and community. We seek to serve as a spiritual resource for all and create a comfortable forum for dialogue on spirituality and current issues through meetings and lectures. Our weekly meetings include readings and the sharing of experiences and ideas about how the challenges of campus life and beyond can be met through prayer and spirituality.

Cinematography Club

The Bates College Cinematography Club is a student-run film production. Interested in writing, directing, camerawork, editing, producing? Always wanted to make a movie? Join the club.

Bates Civil Liberties Union (BCLU)

Wendell Phillips observed that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." The BCLU maintains this vigil by actively defending and promoting awareness about, civil liberties at Bates and at large. To do this, the BCLU engages in advocacy and organizes lectures, panels, and discussion meetings to generate discourse and to facilitate greater awareness of civil liberties.

Cricket Club

Cricket Club is an exciting and skillful sport played worldwide. Originating in Britain it is most popular in its former colonies like India, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Australia, New Zealand, Jamaica, Bermuda, Nepal, Bangladesh etc. Over the last decade cricket has witnessed a dramatic gain in popularity in nations as diverse as United Arab Emirates, Canada, USA, Netherlands, Argentina and Malaysia. Come learn about this growing global sport followed passionately by millions.

Comepetitive Ski Club

USCSA Maine Reynolds Division D-3 ski racing. We have Alpine and Cross Country teams for both men and woman. The only requirement is that you are comfortable on your skis and want to go fast. We have twelve team races through January and February (for both Alpine and Nordic). Great opportunity for people who can't or don't want to race at the D-1 level to continue their racing career.

Crosstones

The Bates College Crosstones is a co-ed a cappella group comprised of a soprano/alto/bass (SATB makeup). The group members hail from CA, IL, NH, NJ, MA, NY, CT and Switzerland, making for an eclectic group. Each member contributes his or her own unique personality, musical vision, and creative angles to the group, allowing it to produce a broad sound and style possibilities. The Crosstones have always been known for its down-to-earth nature, humor, and energy, which manifests in its songs, which range from the light classic rock of Billy Joel's "Lullaby" to the upbeat energy of The Jackson Five's "I Want You Back" to the modern pop of Justin Timberlake's "Cry Me a River." The Crosstones are big believers in branching out to the community, having sung at nursing homes, local middle school and high school benefits and for the local 207 television station. They have also hosted other college a cappella groups from Wellesley, Harvard and Brown in the annual invitational concert.

Bates College Cycling Team

Heart Rate. Lactate Threshold. Power-to-weight ratio. These are all important considerations in the sport of bike racing...but we don't care about them at all!! The Bates College Cycling Team is a laid-back bunch of guys and girls dedicated to racing their bikes. We train year-around and have fun. We race mountain bikes in the fall and road bikes in the spring.

Deansmen

The Bates College Deansmen are one of Bates Colleges two all-male a cappella groups. Since 1957 this group of about fourteen charming men has been entertaining audiences at Bates, throughout New England, and even across seas with their diverse repertoire and sound. The most notable of the groups travels is their annual spring tour, which has taken them to London, Iceland, Mexico, and beyond. The Deansmen sing songs by artists such as Stevie Wonder, Steely Dan, The Blind Boys of Alabama, Kool & The Gang, The Who, and Michael Jackson, all of which are arranged for a cappella by current members of The Deansmen, or alumni. The group is best known for its ability to maintain high quality musicianship and seriousness, while letting loose on stage and delivering a powerful performance.

Brooks Quimby Debate Council

Debate and Bates are practically synonymous. Always among the top debating schools in the nation, Bates placed fourth at the North American Championships in 1992. In past years, we have hosted the North Americans, featuring the top debaters from Canada and the U.S. Debate is a great way to develop your mind, compete successfully against the top schools in the country, travel around the country and the world, and have a lot of fun. No prior experience is necessary; some of our best debaters started while at Bates.

Bates Democrats

The Bates Democrats are concerned students and citizens who tend to vote for Democrats, and are politically active and aware. We sponsor speakers, work on election campaigns, host forums and debates on campus, and engage in discussions on hot political topics. In joining us, you can have an impact on the world beyond Bates.

Bates Dharma Society

The Bates Dharma Society is an on-campus Buddhism group that caters to meditation practices and visits to local monasteries and meditation centers. The group meets once a week for guided meditations and discussions. The Dharma club is a non- religious group and is open to people of all faiths, creeds, backgrounds, etc. People with no experience are encouraged to join; we are open and welcoming to all!

Discordians

Discordians are an eclectic group of students who sponsor fun, slightly non-rational, chem-free social events. We organize the activities that you secretly would like to do but are afraid your friends will laugh at you for doing. Our events include snowball fights, Fall Fling (huge leaf-pile jumping), and the enigmatic Nerf war, Widget. Also, we are people to talk to about LARPs and RPGs. Our events are open to all Bates students, and we always welcome new recruits to swell the ranks of Discord.

Education Club

The Education Club provides students with an interest and passion for education with a forum to discuss educational issues, dilemmas and opportunities through speakers, community outreach, and other events.

Bates Emergency Medical Services (EMS)

EMS is a Maine licensed EMS service that provides emergency care to the Bates College community. All members a volunteers that have completed the Emergency Medical Technician course and is entirely student run. Bates EMT's volunteer their time to be on call and are ready to respond to any campus emergency 24 hours a day, 7 days a week whenever school is in session. While on call, EMT's carry radios to communicate with other crew members and Bates Security. Bates EMS not only provides medical care to those in need, but offer lectures and training sessions to keep their EMT skills proficient. They also sponsor blood drives for the college and hold information sessions i residences at the beginning of the year to give information about the service and campus safety.

Energy Action Movement (BEAM)

A movement at Bates College dedicated to taking direct action to fight anthropogenic global climate change by promoting Carbon Neutrality at Bates and direct political participation. Climate change is the greatest challenge of our generation. A massive international student movement is rapidly growing and Bates is rising to the forefront. Be a part of this historical movement which will affect the lives of many generations to come. This year we will hit the ground running with tons of exciting events and actions including hosting the 5th annual Maine State Climate Summit.

Environmental Coalition

The Environmental Coalition focuses on improving environmental responsibility at Bates, in Lewiston-Auburn, an on a national scale. We work towards these goals with many different approaches, including campaigning for changes to specific college policies, educating students, and drawing attention to crucial issues outside of Bates. It is important to note that EC is run by its members, and this means that new issues are always welcome.

Fencing Club

The Fencing Club began a few years ago as a small club to teach the rudiments of fencing. We have grown to teach beginning fencing, group lessons in all three weapons, free fencing for all levels, and to field competitive teams against collegiate clubs and varsity teams. We also satisfy your phys ed requirement.

Equestrian Team

The Bates Equestrian Team is a club sport open to anyone who is interested in riding or learning to ride. The Bates Equestrian Team competes in the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) in Zone 1 Region 2. We have two seasons, fall and spring, with about four horse shows a season. IHSA shows make it possible for students without horses to show in college. At a show, riders are randomly assigned a horse from the host barn and are judged on their equitation, (traditional hunt seat). There are classes open for all abilities so anyone is welcome to show with the team.

Filmboard

Every weekend the Filmboard presents a newly released, pre-dvd feature film to the Bates Community. Special programming includes independent films, drive-in movies and movie poster raffles. We provide consistent non-alcoholic weekend entertainment to the entire campus for only one dollar. Members help select and show films.

Fishing Club

The Bates Fishing Club was established in 1999 for fishermen and fisherwomen in hopes of establishing a network of campus wide anglers. The BFC has equipment and supplies freely available for all members and anyone else interested in finding out what fishing is all about: good friends and good times. Our equipment room can cover all your fishing needs from native brook trout fishing to striped bass surf casting to ice fishing for pike. The BFC has traveled to and fished at number of destinations across the state and the Northeast including the Kennebec River in Gardiner for rainbow trout, Phippsburg for striped bass, Sabattus Pond for pike, Moosehead Lake for lake trout and landlocked salmon, Cape Cod for striped bass, and even the Outer Banks for wahoo and tuna.

Francophone Club

The Bates College Francophone Club serves to satisfy the desire of the students in this community for an cquaintance and knowledge of the Francophone countries through active participation in cultural, academic and social functions. The Francophone Club, however, will in no case exclude non-French speakers since conversations are always held in English, and occasionally French. Since its birth, the club has focused on showing French movies followed by rich discussions, as well has cooking classes, and various other cultural activities. It will, consequently, continue along this path, initiating student gatherings like these. The ambition of the club is also to organize conferences and meals to promote the discovery of French food, to encourage discussions, and last but not least, to make possible some trips to the closest francophone country: Quebec.

Golf Club

The Golf Club is a campus-wide organization that allows Bates students to play golf at local courses at a ubstantially low price. We are also looking into discount golf lessons for the beginner levels and have sought to promote golf playing amongst those who don't have clubs on campus.

Health Sciences Society (Club Med)

Ve're a group for anyone interested in a career in healthcare including medicine, dentistry, nursing, public health, etc. and we work to get students together and let them know about all the opportunities out there in the field. For example we've had alumni come to talk about their schooling and careers after college as well as discussions with professionals from the community on subjects such as the health care opportunities available in Maine.

Hillel

Bates Hillel is an entirely student-run club designed for Jewish students and others interested in Judaism. Hillel offers weekly Shabbat services and dinner and celebrates all major Jewish holidays.

Helicase

The overall mission of Helicase is to provide support, unity, and inspiration for the exploration of biology both inside and outside of the classroom. We enhance communication between students and the department by coordinating seminar and discussions, as well as functioning as an official liaison. Helicase provides guidance to students about which natural science major will satisfy their interests best and which courses, regardless of their major, would be applicable. Through fieldtrips and other activities we expose students to the resources that surround them in the Bates and greater Maine community, in the hopes of encouraging them to apply these experiences to other work.

Historical Soceity

Historical Society is an organization for all people interested in history. It tries to educate the campus about the significance of the past through movies, talks, and other events. The club also continues and explores old traditions and stories form Bates History back to 1855.

Women's Club Ice Hockey

Come play for the Women's Club Ice Hockey team! Players of all skill levels, from experienced to beginner, are welcome. We practice 4 days a week from November to March and play games on weekends against other club teams in the region. Although we work hard and love the game of hockey, the emphasis is on teamwork and having fun.

The Knit Wits

The Knit Wits is an organization which aims to give Bates Students a weekly time and space to knit, or learn to knit. We have a lot of fun as a club doing various activities. We also knit for the purpose of donating to a charitable organization.

Hockey Team

Open to all students, the men's and women's ice hockey teams practice five days a week and play around 20 games season, extending from November to February. Both teams are members of the American Collegiate Hockey Association (ACHA), which is the largest and most competitive club hockey organization in the nation and offers an annual national tournament for top qualifying teams. The clubs play on campus at Underhill Arena and travel throughout the northeast competing against other colleges and universities within the league and participate in regional playoffs. Both teams are student run but are led on-ice by experienced coaches. The men's team is led by To LeBlonde, who played collegiate hockey and is now a history teacher at Lewiston High School. The women's team i led by Roger LaChapelle, who in addition to serving as a school administrator for numerous years has coached Lewiston High School to multiple Maine state hockey championship titles.

International Club

The International Club provides the Bates community with an opportunity to take part in a large variety of activities that aim to promote and encourage cross-cultural awareness and understanding. Such activities include the annual International Dinner (featuring foods from around the world), trips during the mid-semester breaks, several International parties, and our International Fair and Festival when students represent their countries in a variety of ways, ranging from fashion, to music, to dancing, to pictures, movies, and souvenirs. These activities serve as an opportunity for international students to represent themselves, their countries, cultures, and traditions. Just as importantly, with our activities, we aim to create interaction that offers all students, from within the United States and from outside, the insight on various world issues; young ambitious people who share the same desire for knowledge, exploration, and education. We also serve to support the International students in their transition process from one part of the world to another. We welcome all members of the Bates Community as members of the International Club, or participants in its activities.

Investment Club

The Bates College Investment Club manages a real $100,000+ portfolio on behalf of the college, in support of student financial aid. The club's portfolio outperformed the major stock indexes by over 25% in 2008! Weekly meetings are held to teach the basics of investment analysis, discuss investment opportunities and vote on new investments, and learn about the financial markets in general. No prior knowledge or investment experience is required, and students from all majors are welcome. Joining the club is highly recommended for those who may be considering finance as a possible career as well as those who are just curious to learn about the financial world.

Italian Club

The Italian Club serves the purpose of promoting Italian language and culture at Bates College through a wide variety of activities including presentations, movie showings, traditional dinners, and group outings to museums or concerts, etc.

Juggling Club

Balls, rings, clubs, diablos, devil sticks and more! We welcome everyone and anyone who is interested in learning or improving their juggling and/or circus related art.

Men's Club Lacrosse

The Bates Mens Club Lacrosse team has greatly increased in size and popularity since its first season in 2006. Club Lacrosse is a great option for anyone interested in experiencing the game of lacrosse at a college level regardless of skill or experience. Competition consists mostly of other schools throughout New England.

Latinos Unidos

Latinos Unidos is a club, organized as a threshold of diversity. The club seeks to afford the Latino Students of Bates College with the opportunities needed to embrace their culture while continuing to learn about the cultures around them. As such, our main goal is to enlighten the Bates community about the beauty and richness of countries in, South America, Central America and the Caribbean. The entire Bates community, whether Latino or not, are invited to all meetings and activities. Additionally, in order to include non-Spanish speaking members, all meetings are held in English.

Manic Optimists

What do you get when you put 13 guys who love to sing alone with a piano? Youll have to see for yourself to find out, but were pretty sure youll be manically optimistic about it! The Manic Optimists are Bates newest all-male a cappella group, performing a wide variety of current hits and classic favorites. We perform constantly throughout the year, at Bates, at other schools, and anywhere else theyll have us, from the Boston Common to Sugarloaf ski resort and beyond!

Martial Arts Club

The Bates Martial Arts Club hopes to develop self-confidence and the ability to think and react clearly in a self-defense situation. In our club practices we strive for a high overall level of fitness and knowledge of self-defense. Our instructors are extremely knowledgeable and have well over 35 years of experience collectively. We are the Martial Arts Club because we are not held down by single styles of self-defense. We utilize both striking and non-striking styles, including Karate, Kung-fu, Japanese Jujitsu and Brazilian Jujitsu..

Merimanders

Merimanders is the student-run female a capella group at Bates. The group, founded in 1957, sings a variety of musical genres. We enjoy performing on campus, in many local and regional community service settings, and at other colleges. Tryouts are held at the very beginning of the year.

Mirror (The Yearbook)

If you have yearbook experience, if you have no yearbook experience, if you like to write, take photos, or design, we think we have the place for you! The Mirror awaits your ideas. Even the least experienced person can make major contributions and help us capture fragments of your Bates experience.

Mock Trial Team

Our three year old team is both competitive, and a lot of fun. We spend a few months preparing a trial, including writing opening and closing statements, and direct and cross-examinations. We annually attend the regional competitive tournament, where we compete against other New England colleges and universities. Mock Trial presents a great experience to bond with a group of Batesies, while engaging in a challenging and extremely fun activity. No experience is necessary to join!

OUTfront

OUTfront serves the entire Bates College community by sounding out fundamental issues of sexuality and gender. As both a student-run support group and a political organization, we facilitate education and discussion of gender and sexuality issues while working to change intolerant and discriminating attitudes. OUTfront cooperates with other student organizations toward the greater goal of social justice for all within, and beyond, the College.

Model United Nations (aka Model UN/MUN)

Model United Nations is an academic simulation of the United Nations that aims to educate participants about civics, effective communication, globalization and multilateral diplomacy. In Model UN, students take on roles as diplomats and participate in a simulated session of an intergovernmental organization (IGO). Participants research a country, take on roles as diplomats, investigate international issues, debate, deliberate, consult, and then develop solutions to world problems.

Mushahada Association

Mushahada Association (Muslim Students Association) is an association of the Muslim students and students interested in the Islamic faith at Bates. Mushahada is an Arabic word and means vision. The club aims at providing appropriate space for religious observances, and increasing awareness of Islam as a religion on the college campus through organizing a diverse range of activities, which also act as a platform for interaction between Muslim students on the campus and the college community as a whole.

Modern Dance Club

The Bates Modern Dance Club aims to connect more Bates students, faculty, staff, and members of the Lewiston-Auburn community with the world of dance. Specifically, we want members of the Bates community to experience styles of dance not offered through the college. Our club gives students a way to maintain or discover a love of dance in a way which is not dependent upon being a dance minor or a member of the Modern Dance Company. Based on input from Bates students and academic departments, we bring guest artists to campus to give workshops, performances, and lectures throughout the year. We also take advantage of performances going on in Lewiston, Portland, and Boston; and invite anyone interested to contribute to a student run/choreographed show put on during short term.

Musician's Union

The Bates Musician's Union aims to bring together musicians into a single collective. Through sponsoring concerts, parties, and other campus-wide events, we hope to increase awareness of, excitement for, and participation in the many music-related opportunities which Bates offers. The union organizes the schedules of concerts and band practices and gives musicians a unified voice before Bates as a whole.

New World Coalition

New World Coalition is an organization composed of people with a diverse array of world views who meet on common ground to organize for social justice. We work to build a new world from the roots up by advocating for permanent structural change and engaging in direct action. We believe that making the connection between local and global struggles is paramount in this endeavor. From the bottom up and the periphery in, we seek to disable unjust power structures based on money and military strength while building solutions which will allow for greater citizen democracy and provide for all of humanity's needs.

Paintball Club

Paintball Club organizes recreational play for Bates College members. We play locally at Lost Valley. The club provides a limited amount of equipment to reduce costs and seeks to promote safety and sportsmanship in the rapidly-growing sport of paintball.

Northfield

Northfield is a non-audition, non-traditional acapella group that welcomes all singers on campus and draws from a variety of music traditions, including shape note singing, Appalachian folk music, and cultural music from around the world. As common among such vocal groups, we learn many of our pieces from each other and directly from other singers with similar interests. A core part of Northfield involves welcoming in a variety of singers at all experience levels so that we can teach and learn from one another, regardless of our backgrounds. Northfield was founded as a singing group open to all, meant to provide an opportunity for students to learn more about cultural music.

Bates Outing Club

The Bates Outing Club was founded in 1920 and is the second oldest outing club in the country. Every member of the Bates College community is technically a member of the club. Its administration is set up into officers, directors, and a Council composed of active members. The officers run the administrative aspects of the club while the directors run the outing activities. The organization offers year-round trips throughout New England for hiking, climbing, skiing, canoeing, surfing, kayaking and many more. Every year the club hosts activities including two Clambakes, Winter Carnival and a hike up Katahdin, each of which remain popular campus-wide events.

Photography Club

now you may have noticed that Bates has NO PHOTOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT. Well, don't fret; you can join the hoto Club! You get access to a darkroom, AMAZING discounts on photo paper & film (as cheap as $1.00 a roll!!), nd a discount at a nearby camera shop. And ...you don't have to know anything about photography! We teach!

Physics Society

The Physics Society's purpose is to advance and spread knowledge of physics to interested members of the Bates community. We sponsor seminars, video viewings covering all areas of physics, science related trips, and a weekly physics lunch (an informal gathering of physics students, professors, and guest lecturers).

Psychology Club

Anyone can participate. All students at Bates College are encouraged to take part in events sponsored by the Psychology Club. The purpose of this club shall be to foster interaction between psychology majors and other nterested individuals within the context of fields related to psychology. Some of our activities include, sponsoring speakers, holding discussions, visiting periodically with faculty members for dinner, and attending conferences.

Public Journal

Hey, you! What are you thinking about? The Bates Public Journal is your chance to voice it. It is a non-fiction iterary publication that is a forum for self-reflection and the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Its about saying whatever is on your mind, be it funny or serious. Submissions can include prose, confessions, random rants and musings, letters, postcards, or anything else you can dream up!

Bates College Republicans

Bates College Republicans, a chapter of the Maine College Republicans and the College Republican National Committee (CRNC), is a political organization that promotes conservative values on the Bates campus and helps elect Republican candidates at the local, state and national levels of government. Club members host prominent speakers, engage in grassroots activism on behalf of Republican candidates, sponsor school-wide debates, and generally heighten political awareness at Bates. The club has a strong belief in the benefits of a strong two-party government and recognizes that every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle.

Rugby (Women)

Not just for men anymore! We're a competitive, fun-loving bunch. We compete against teams throughout New England. Come learn how to tackle and to pass backwards, and make some long-lasting friendships.

Robinson Players

The Robinson Players are the only student-run theater group on campus and one of the oldest clubs at Bates. The Rob Players are active in the Bates and Lewiston-Auburn communities, putting on full length and one act plays, children's shows, musicals and other events that are free and open to the public. Our group gives student performers, directors and designers a chance to hone their skills in a supportive and fun environment.

The Bates Mens Rugby Team

The Bates Mens Rugby Team competes in the fall, playing rivals Colby and Bowdoin in addition to Maine-Farmington, Maine-Orono, and UNH in the northeast conference in the New England Rugby Football Union (NERFU). We practice Monday through Friday and have games on Saturday. Contrary to popular belief, you do not need to be of gargantuan size to play rugby. We need people players of various body types to play the all of the positions. Do not worry about having previous experience as almost all collegiate rugby players do not have previous experience. Rugby is an intense game requiring you to push your body and your mind to the limit. The rush of playing rugby is unlike any other you will have ever experienced.

The Bates Sailing Team

The Bates Sailing Team is a student-run and organized club sport. We maintain 12 FJs and 1 Laser, and sail and practice out of Taylor Pond Yacht Club in Auburn, which is approximately 10 minutes from campus. The team practices and sails 5 days a week with 3 days devoted to Racing Practice with Head Coach Rob Haile, and 2 days devoted to novice sailors, recreational sailing and sailing lessons taught by US Sailing Certified Instructors. The team also competes in races throughout New England on the weekends. We are active members of the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association (NEISA), and race competitively at a wide range of their races. There are racing events for all skill levels, and there is NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY to join the club.

Salaam Namaste!

Salaam Namaste! is an organization seeking to promote awareness of South Asian culture at Bates College. With its vibrant culture, bubbling spirit and teeming knowledge, South Asia is a growing attraction in the world and ha proven to be of much interest to students from America and the other countries represented at Bates. Founded on the enthusiasm of South Asian students at Bates yearning to share their heritage with their fellow students, this club truly enriches Bates multicultural life by organizing cultural events from South Asia such as "Holi" (The World's Biggest Water Fight) and hosting South Asian cooking nights and Bollywood movie nights.

Sangai Asia

"Sangai" means "togetherness" in Nepalese, which is a founding purpose of this club. Sangai Asia was created to promote Asian and Asian-American awareness, identity, and fellowship on the Bates campus as well as in the greater community. Sangai Asia has held and cosponsored events such as dinners, cooking classes, film series, annual fireworks displays, and lectures focusing on Asian and Asian- American identity and cultures. In addition, Sangai Asia also produces the annual "Asian Performance Night," which typically features an outside professional performance group, and highlights the diverse Asian cultural backgrounds of its members and Bates students through the performing arts.

The Bates College Scuba Society

The Bates College Scuba Society is a group for certified divers and people who have not yet experienced diving. Through meetings, classes, and dive trips on the Maine coast we seek to involve a wider audience in the sport of diving on campus and within local communities. The club organizes Open Water Certification classes here at Bat for our entire community. Additionally, during the warm fall months and over short term (when the ice goes away we try and get our fins wet and explore the beautiful state of Maine!

Students For Peace and Justice Palestine

Students For Peace and Justice Palestine is a club at Bates College that consists of students interested in the Palestine/Israel conflict. The members believe that the Palestinian narrative is not understood in the United States; thus, many injustices against Palestinians occur without notice. Therefore, it is the goal of this club to present the Palestinian narrative to Bates through speakers, movies, forums, and dialogues. This also entails political activism and active participation in campus organization and publications by the members to bring awareness of the Israeli's and Palestinians working for peace. We believe that understanding the Palestinian narrative is vital for a lasting peace process in the Middle East. As we educate more Americans about Palestinians then, as a nation, we can take the appropriate steps towards a sustainable and just peace.

Table Tennis Club

The Table Tennis Club is young club at Bates which fosters to all level players. It currently provides two brand new professional Stiga tables and up to date equipment. Tournaments with prize money are scheduled throughout the year to continue the fun and competitive experience delivered by the Table Tennis Club.

Taiko are stick percussion instruments originated from Japan. Bates Taiko Club meets once a week for official Taiko drumming lesson from instructor and additional meetings for practice purposes among members. In the past, Taiko Club has performed in Sangai Asian Night, International Club Coffee House and CBB Japan Fair. We also organized cultural activities for members such as watching Taiko performances in Boston.

Takenote

Takenote is the newest co-ed a cappella group on campus. The group performs concert on campus along with performing at community venues, such as nursing homes and most recently the FAB.

Bates College's Ultimate Frisbee Team

Bates College's Ultimate Frisbee Team, the legendary Orange Whip (Mens) and Cold Front (Womens) are two club teams committed to the sport of Ultimate. Practices are held 3 to 4 times per week, consisting of drills, scrimmaging, conditioning and fun games. We are a team that plays with intensity while always managing to have a great time. In the fall season we play as many tournaments as we can, traveling from Maine as far as Western Massachusetts and Rhode Island. In the winter we play in the Grey Cage, attempting to keep in shape and gearing up for mens and womens Sectionals and some co-ed tournaments.

Unitarian Universalist Fellowship

The Bates Unitarian Universalist Fellowship is a liberally spiritual group that meets weekly to discuss issues of religious curiosity and growth. In a trustful, tolerant, and laid-back environment, we encourage each other to ask and answer those big ´life questions´ that are anchored to the appreciation of our lives.

Video Game Club

The Video Game Club's main purpose is to provide tournaments of multiplayer video games for campus-wide competition. We also hold exhibitions of new games so you can check them out before you buy them. If you play video games, join, because it's an easy way to get to know lots of people from all parts of the campus.

Volleyball Club

The Bates Volleyball Club is a competitive team that competes against schools from all around New England. We compete in the New England College Volleyball League and have done quite well in the past few years. We are a club sport and is open to anyone who is willing to play. We compete against such schools as Bowdoin, Colby, University of Maine, Brown, Williams and many others.

Water Skiing Club

The Water Skiing Club welcomes skiers of all abilities. We ski on a pond ten minutes from campus. A boat and all equipment are provided. Wakeboarding is also available. Water Polo (M) Team

Water Polo (M) Team is looking forward to having another awesome year. We will teach you the rules, get you in shape, and play in some tournaments against other club teams in the North Atlantic Conference of the Collegiate Water Polo Association. Last year, we played in three tournaments, included one that we hosted. Last year, our record was 4-7, with one of our victories against the top seed in the conference. There are no cuts, no tryouts, and no experience necessary. Be ready to learn one of the most intense games in the sporting world, get in great shape, and have the time of your life with an awesome team. As our motto says, There may not be any horses in the pool, but there are plenty of stallions.

Water Polo Club (W)

Womens Waterpolo is an athletic club that is open to everyone! No experience needed...If you can swim, you can play...Come get wet!!!

Women's Resource Center

Women's Resource Center (45 Campus Ave) is a student run group that promotes awareness, discussion, and activism around women's issues. The Vision of the Bates College Women's Resource Center is: to create a safe and comfortable space for women on campus, to provide a place for students to exchange ideas and meet with peers and professors outside of an academic setting, to provide a pro-active, supportive environment that builds community, to generate and encourage dialogue between men and women regarding gender and women's issues at a local, national and international level and to facilitate action and raise awareness regarding gender and women's issues in order to help create a campus free of sexism, discrimination and violence. We hold weekly meetings to plan our brown bag lunch discussions, speakers, conferences, and events. We also work with local organizations and participate in community service activities.

Woodsmen Club

The Woodsmen Club exists to promote and introduce woodsmen competition to the students of Bates College. We plan to compete at an intercollegiate level with such peer schools as UMO, Dartmouth, Colby, and Unity, along with several institutions in northeastern Canada. We will be joining a time-honored tradition of lumberjack competition in the northeast, and we hope to initiate many Bates students to the skills and the thrill of competition with tools like axes, chainsaws and two-man saws. We also hope to offer the opportunity for students to take chainsaw safety and technique classes.

WRBC 91.5 FM

WRBC is Bates' own fully licensed radio station broadcasting since 1958 at 91.5 FM. We represent one of Bates' most eclectic clubs, and feature live radio programming of all genres and styles 24 hours a day, 365 day of the year. We also host concerts and events throughout the school year, including our famed Trivia Night. Recent musicians we have hosted include FM Belfast, Yeasayer, and Crystal Castles. Listen online around the world at www.wrbcradio.com and find out what we are all about!

Young Entrepreneurs

a club aimed towards young fresh entrepreneurs willing to come up with unique business ideas and implementing them with budget restraints. The main purpose of the club is to hold a competition between these aspiring entrepreneurs (it has to be groups of between 2 - 5 people), and to decide on the group with the best entrepreneurial skills. The club has professors as the judging panel for the competition and also incorporates itself with other club events and activities. B.Y.E is a great way to experience what's out there, and make it fun at the same time.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN'S

"This has been an exciting year for the men. Having lost five of our top seven from last year we knew that there were going to be many opportunities for new athletes to step in or up in to our program. We have seen that. Topping the list has been the addition of Devin Dilts '11 a sophomore transfer from Vanderbilt who has run as our top runner all year despite never having run cross country previously. Along with being the best on the team he is quickly becoming one of the best in the region. Along with Devin, Doug Brecher '10 has been a steady force at the front of our team. Behind them a influx of new talent Troy Calandra '12, Sean Colligan, 12, Peter Corcoran, 12, Ben Chebot, 12 have all factored in heavily to our success. Senior Dillon Tung contributed in his steady and reliable way and Tom Esponnette 11 and Joe Musso 11 have progressed impressively over their first year seasons. All in all, this was a very competitive and very young group with at least 6 of our top seven returning this team will be a force to be reckoned with in the years to come."-Coach Fereshetian

"The highlight of our 2008 cross-country season was hosting the NESCAC Championship at our home course at Pineland Farms. Bates only gets to host this meet every 13 years, so it was a really high-energy event and a lot of our parents, friends, and cross-country alums came out to watch us run. After NESCAC's, we went on to an 8th place finish at Regionals, which was really a testament to the guts of our junior and sophomore classes, who made huge improvements in their running this season. We're quickly closing the point gap on teams like Bowdoin and earning a permanent spot as a top-10 team in New England. I can't wait to see what these ladies can do next year!" - Capt. Goldstein

MEN'S SOCCER

"While the season got off to a slow-start with some tough NESCAC losses, we found our stride mid-season and were able to pull off an unbelievable 5-0 run to cap-off the season. The team's successwasdue to the cohesiveness of the squad, the work-ethic of every member of the team, and our ability to handle adversity and find enjoyment at every step. We finished fifth in the league - our highest seeding in recent memory - and pulled off seemingly impossible wins to make it to the playoffs (including beating Middlebury, the defending national champions, at their place). In the end, the team really showed its potential to find success in the years to come as the boys will return next year stronger than ever, with a confident, talented squad of players. Best of luck to them."- Capt. Kellogg

"Every game in the 2008 season was a hard fought battle and for a youthful team, it was a great introduction to the competitive play of NESCAC soccer. The team worked hard all all and it will look to continue that work ethic in the off-season to help Bates get back to the tournament. Caitlin McMahon, Julie Brown, and Jen Marino, our graduating seniors, have done a wonderful job showing the underclassmen what it means to have a tireless work ethic and I look forward to seeing the teams improvement next season." - Coach Flaherty

"THIS SEASON WAS ONE OF THE BEST FOR BATES WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD. WITH PROBABLY THE LARGEST TEAM WE'VE SEEN TO DATE, WE BROKE MANY RECORDS AND HAD A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE QUALIFYING FOR CHAMPIONSHIP MEETS. THE OUTDOOR SEASON CULMINATED IN TWO OF OUR LADIES (VANTIEL DUNCAN AND IZZY ALEXANDER) HEADING TO THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP AND COMING HOME ALL-AMERICANS!"

BASKETBALL

"WE FINISHED WITH AN OVERALL RECORD OF 13-12 AND 4-5 IN THE NESCAC. FIVE OF OUR LOSSES WERE BY LESS THAN FOUR POINTS (INCLUDING A 35 FOOT BUZZER-BEATER AT EMMANUEL) NOT INCLUDING OVERTIME LOSSES ON THE ROAD TO RIVAL BOWDOIN AND NESCAC CHAMPION MIDDLEBURY. THE EVENTFUL AND EXCITING GAMES IN ALUMNI GYM STAYED TRUE TO THEIR TRADITION AS WE GAVE THE LOYAL FANS IN CAT COUNTRY SOME INCREDIBLE FINISHES. DESPITE THE DISAPPOINTMENT IN THE OVERALL RECORD I COULD NOT BE MORE PROUD OF THIS TEAM. THESE GUYS WORKED SO HARD EVERY DAY AND MADE GREAT STRIDES FOR THE PROGRAM. WE LOSE TWO GREAT SENIOR LEADERS IN BEN AND SCOTT, BUT RETURN A TREMENDOUS CORE OF GUYS AND A SOLID GROUP OF RECRUITS."

SOFTBALL

"THE 2009 BATES COLLEGE SOFTBALL TEAM HAD, BY FAR, ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASONS IN DECADES. BEGINNING WITH ELEVEN TOUGH GAMES VERSUS TOP TEAMS IN THE NATION, THE SEASON LOOKED GRIM; HOWEVER, RETURNING TO MAINE TO SWEEP COLBY AND TAKE TWO FROM BOWDOIN, THE SOFTBALL TEAM CLINCHED THE CBB CHAMPIONSHIP FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE 2006, BEING CROWNED THE BEST SOFTBALL TEAM IN MAINE. IN DRAMATIC FASHION THE SOFTBALL TEAM BEAT TRINITY COLLEGE IN THE BOTTOM OF 11TH WITH A GAME WINNING HIT FROM FIRST-YEAR LEAH MACIEJEWSKI TO CLINCH A SPOT IN THE 2009 NESCAC SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP. THIS MARKS THE FIRST TRIP TO THE PLAYOFFS IN THE PROGRAM'S HISTORY. THE TEAM'S SUCCESS WAS A CONTRIBUTION FROM TOP TO BOTTOM, SENIORS TO ROOKIES, AND IS INDICATIVE OF NOTHING BUT A PROMISING FUTURE FOR THE PROGRAM."

CREW MEN'S

"the men's crew began 08-09 with a disappointing finish at the head of the charles but gained speed throughout the year ending with a 3rd place finish at the new england championships - the best men's varsity 8 finish in bates rowing history. this summer the men will compete internationally for the first time by racing for the temple challenge cup in the henley royal regatta, england."
-coach steenstra

"this year has been the best rowing season for the Men's Team in Bates history. the 1st varsity boat placed 3rd in our new england championship, after leading the race for the first 1500m. our ecac championship was canceled due to bad weather, and we are currently training to race in england July 1st-5th at the henley royal regatta. overall it has been a great season and I am very proud of the men."
Capt. brian quarrier

"this years great success is the culmination not just this years hard work, but the past few years as well. we have had a steady but tough climb to where we are now. i'm proud of the work that the men have all put in, and the first ever trip to henley royal regatta we are about to embark on marks a standard of excellence that I hope we can make tradition on our team from here on out."

Bates College

Congratulations to the Class of 2009!

MY FIRS
BLOOMINGDALE'S UNIVERSITY

Congratulations Tierney,

WE COULD NOT BE MORE PROUD!!

LOVE, MOM, DAD AND COLLEEN

"Do not go where the path may lead; go instead where there is no path and leave a trail." –Ralph Waldo Emerson

"You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself in any direction you choose. You're on your own. And you know what you know. Your are the guy who'll decide where to go." –Dr. Seuss

"Be the change you want to see in the world." –Ghandi

Katherine,

May life's journeys continue to lead you down paths filled with curiousity, knowledge, love, laughter and happiness...

We are so proud and elated to share this joyous rite of passage with you, as you embark on yet another journey into your future...

Congratulations on all that you have accomplished at Bates!

All our love,
Mom, Dad, Alex,
Caroline and Allison

CAITLIN

For each petal on the shamrock,
This brings a wish your way
Good health, good luck, and happiness
For today and everyday!

You have grown in so many ways and I am so proud of you.
You are such a special person and I love you so much.
Congratulations on all your successes at Bates - what a wonderful 4 years it has been.
I know great things await you... just keep following your dreams and believing in yourself as much as I believe in you.

Love, Mom xo

Go confidently in the direction of your dreams.
Live the life you have imagined. Henry David Thoreau

Virginia,

We are all so proud of you and we know you will make your dreams come true.

Much love,
Mom, Dad, Rachel, Abby, Jonathan, Ben and Hedda

CONGRATULATIONS CAVAN!

YOU CONTINUE TO ENERGIZE US AND MAKE US SMILE.

LOVE, DAD, MOM, CONNOR & KERRY

CONGRATULATIONS SARAH!

WITH LOVE FROM,
ALL YOUR FRIENDS AT HAWK RIDGE FARM

JOSH,

FOUR WONDERFUL YEARS AT BATES TO REMEMBER FOREVER. WITH YOUR WARM SMILE AND GENEROUS SPIRIT, MOVE CONFIDENTLY INTO THE FUTURE.

WITH LOVE AND PRIDE ALWAYS,
MUM, DAD, AND DAN

"It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have been done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiams, the great devotions and spends himself in a worthy cause, who, at best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who, at worst, if he fails, at least fails daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

The LORD is the everlasting God,
the Creator of all the earth.
He never grows weak or weary.
No one can measure the depths of his understanding.
He gives power to the weak and strength to the powerless.
Even youths will become weak and tired,
and young men will fall in exhaustion.
But those who trust in the LORD will find new strength.
They will soar high on wings like eagles.
They will run and not grow weary.
They will walk and not faint. Isaiah 4:26-31

The Bates College Mirror Yearbook

Commencement 2009 Remarks by Geena Davis,

RECIPIENT OF THE HONORARY DEGREE DOCTOR OF FINE ARTS

Watching children's television one day with her daughter, actress Geena Davis noticed that far fewer women than men appeared on the screen. This observation inspired the Academy Award-winner to assume an important new off-screen role. As founder of the Geena Davis Institute on Gender in Media, Davis supports research into the disparities between Hollywood's depictions of women and of men. In 2008, the institute published a study by Stacy Smith of the Annenberg School for Communication, University of Southern California, which found male characters outnumbering females nearly threefold in a broad sampling of films. Even in scenes of crowds or animated schools of fish, Davis told the GDIGM Conference in 2008, "the worlds that kids are seeing are really bereft of a female presence overall."

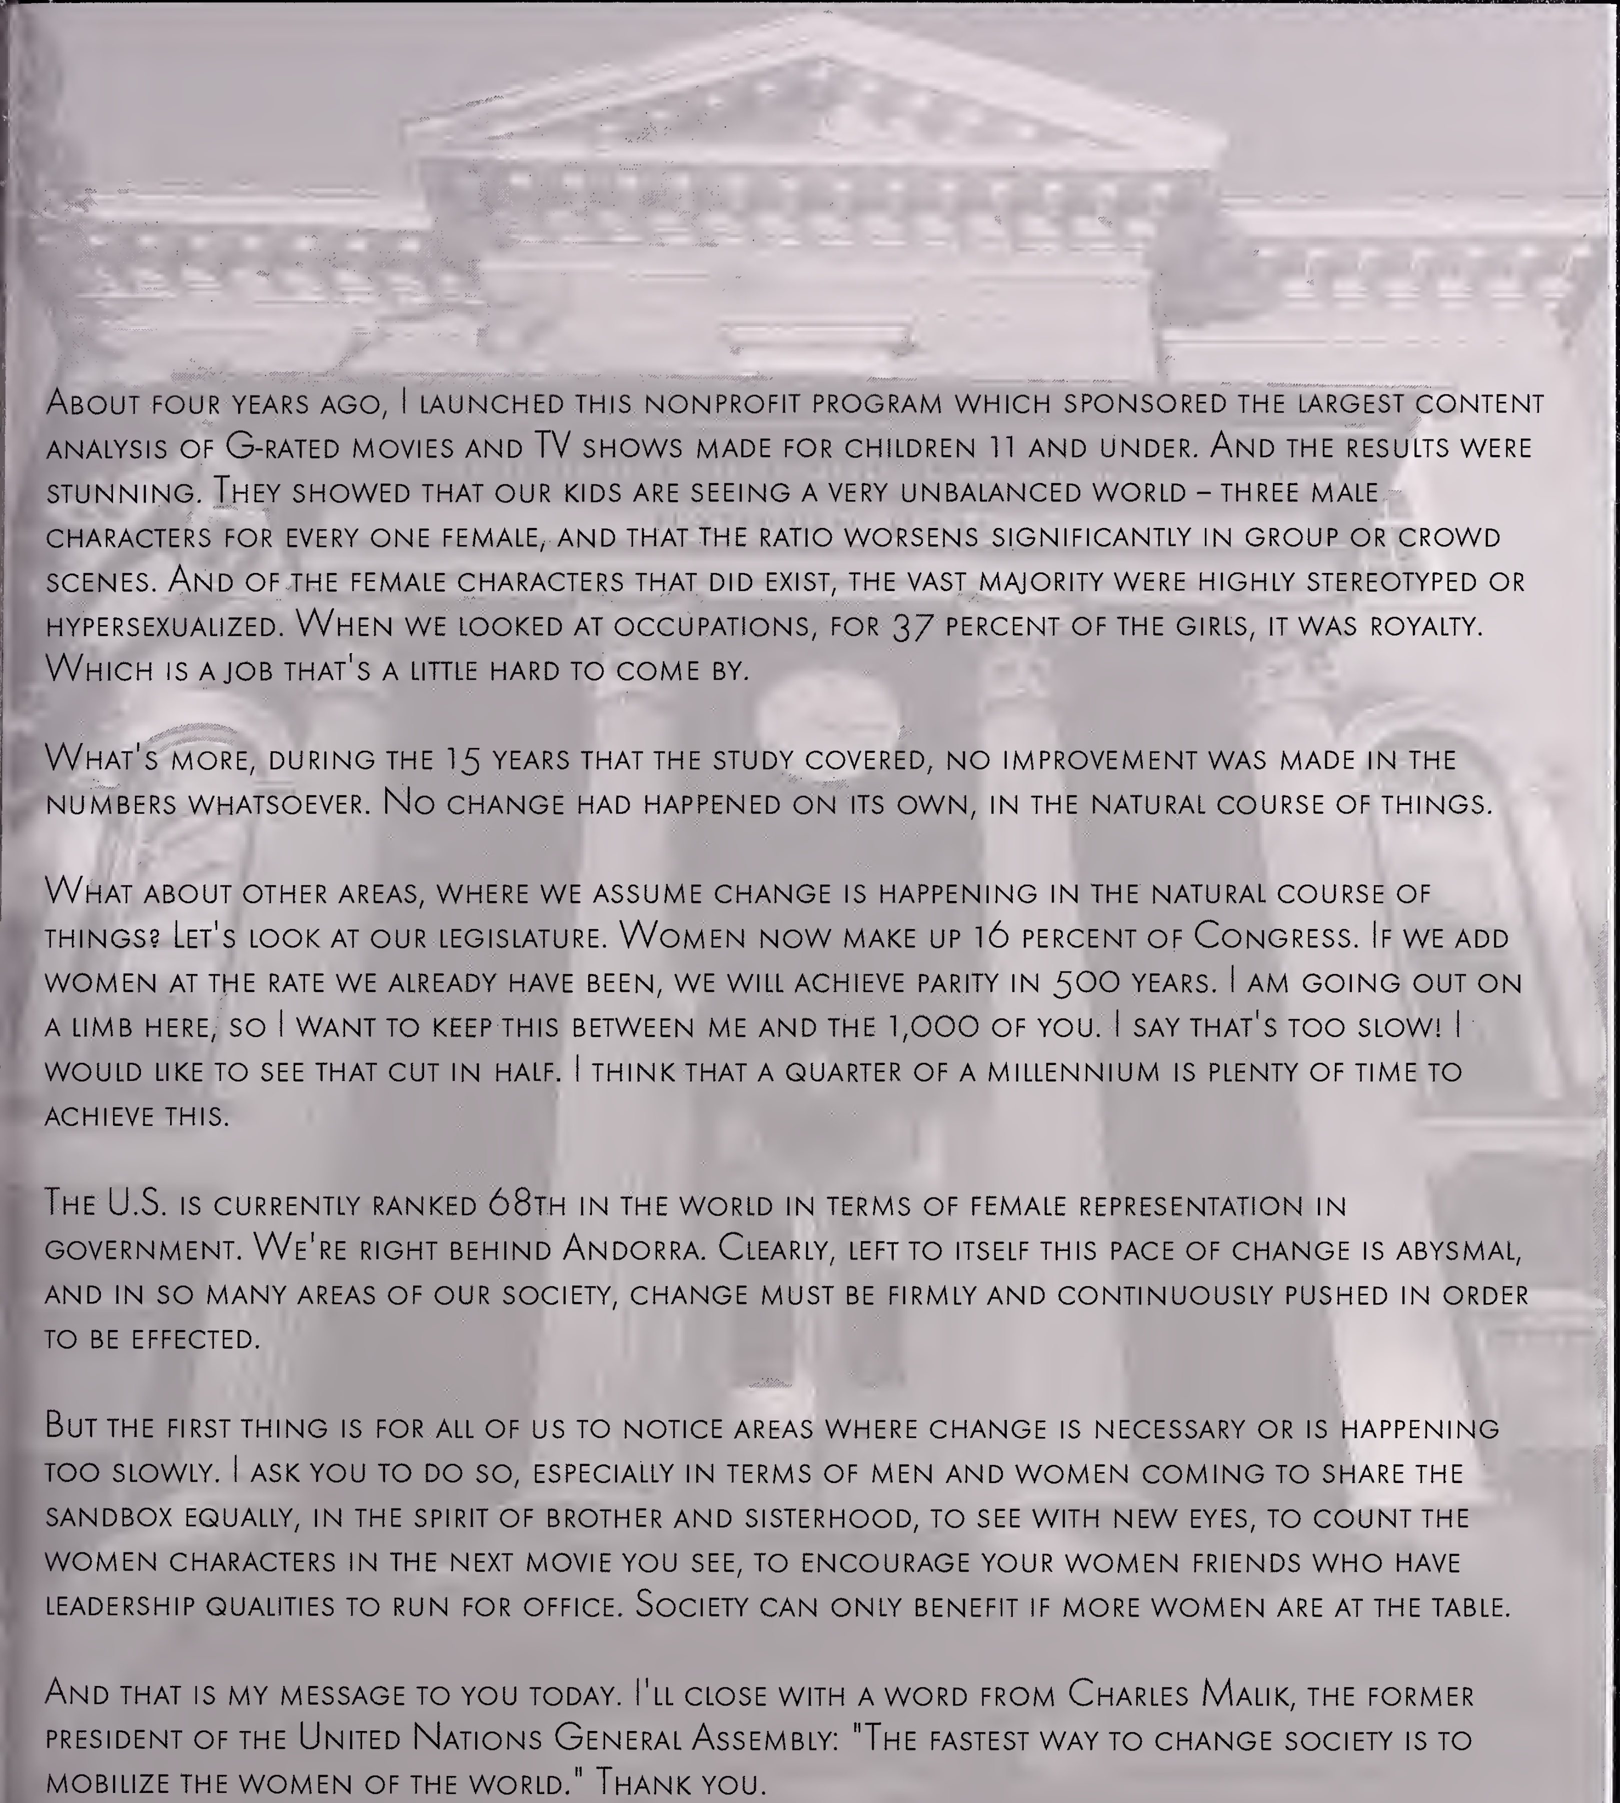
It is a great honor to be here today with you graduates, on such an important day in your lives. It turns out that it's an important day for me too. I am deeply grateful and humbled by this honor and I want to thank the Trustees and President Elaine Tuttle Hansen for bringing me into the Bates community in such a meaningful way. If I can, I would like to add that hereafter I would prefer to be referred to as "Dr. Davis."

I remember my own college days so fondly, and the friends that I made in college turned out to be lifelong friends. High school friends, I couldn't care less about. As you embark on this new chapter in your lives I'd like to talk with you a little bit about change, and how it comes about or doesn't.

It has seemed to me that in many areas of society, it's a common belief that progress will happen naturally, on its own, and that as time goes by things will change and are changing for the better. Or we believe that the necessary change has already taken place. It is particularly true in my industry, where they are continually announcing that things are better now for women actors. The fact is, the ratio of male to female characters is not only dismal but has remained stagnant for several decades.

And that isn't even the whole story.

There is also a significant gender disparity that exists, with a few notable exceptions like Dora the Explorer, in the movies and TV shows that are made for our youngest kids. When I started watching this kind of entertainment with my little daughter, I was stunned to see what I perceived to be a clear dearth of female characters. I had assumed that in the 21st century, we are no longer feeding kids an image of society where women and girls don't take up half the space – which studies show that we do.



About four years ago, I launched this nonprofit program which sponsored the largest content analysis of G-rated movies and TV shows made for children 11 and under. And the results were stunning. They showed that our kids are seeing a very unbalanced world – three male characters for every one female, and that the ratio worsens significantly in group or crowd scenes. And of the female characters that did exist, the vast majority were highly stereotyped or hypersexualized. When we looked at occupations, for 37 percent of the girls, it was royalty. Which is a job that's a little hard to come by.

What's more, during the 15 years that the study covered, no improvement was made in the numbers whatsoever. No change had happened on its own, in the natural course of things.

What about other areas, where we assume change is happening in the natural course of things? Let's look at our legislature. Women now make up 16 percent of Congress. If we add women at the rate we already have been, we will achieve parity in 500 years. I am going out on a limb here, so I want to keep this between me and the 1,000 of you. I say that's too slow! I would like to see that cut in half. I think that a quarter of a millennium is plenty of time to achieve this.

The U.S. is currently ranked 68th in the world in terms of female representation in government. We're right behind Andorra. Clearly, left to itself this pace of change is abysmal, and in so many areas of our society, change must be firmly and continuously pushed in order to be effected.

But the first thing is for all of us to notice areas where change is necessary or is happening too slowly. I ask you to do so, especially in terms of men and women coming to share the sandbox equally, in the spirit of brother and sisterhood, to see with new eyes, to count the women characters in the next movie you see, to encourage your women friends who have leadership qualities to run for office. Society can only benefit if more women are at the table.

And that is my message to you today. I'll close with a word from Charles Malik, the former president of the United Nations General Assembly: "The fastest way to change society is to mobilize the women of the world." Thank you.

Commencement 2009 remarks by Ralph T. Perry '51, recipient of the honorary degree doctor of humane letters

As one of Bates' most generous philanthropists, Ralph Perry '51, a resident of Orrs Island, Maine, has supported programs and priorities that reflect his identity as a Maine citizen and businessman, his personal history and his devotion to his alma mater.

It is a personal honor to receive this honor from the Trustees for my contributions to the well being of the College.

To the graduates today, I salute you on your achievements, and I know that you have been well-prepared to compete successfully in your future occupations.

With the passage of time, you will continue to acquire knowledge in your area of interest, about the world, and about yourself. I have been asked to devote these minutes regarding what I would advise you to seek, to strive for and to become engaged in. I can only do this based on my personal journey of eight decades. As a society, I feel that we measure success based on the accumulation of wealth, honors, and ones occupation, rather than on the basis of success as a human being. It's very interesting: When you engage in conversation with someone you've just met, what's the first question that's asked: What do you do?

When we are near the end of our life journey, will the greatest satisfaction be the accumulation of wealth and honors, or will it be the memories of our good deeds?

Here are the lessons I have learned. Take the time to understand yourself. Your public facade is not necessarily who you really are. If you understand yourself, you will be able to realize your full potential as a person, member of society, and in your career.

Treat people with respect and dignity. Do not attempt to achieve your goals through intimidation. Recognize that your success is through the help and assistance of others. You cannot achieve success without the support of others. Loyalty is a two-way street. Give and you will receive. Have high expectations of yourself and those you are associated with. People will work to your level of expectations. Always to remember to thank them for their efforts and good performance.

Understanding and compassion are required to be a success as a person. Once you acquire these traits, you will be on the path to personal happiness. Your success will be partially attributed to the education you have secured at Bates. If you share your monetary good fortune with this college, you will find it provides much satisfaction and joy. I encourage all of you to remember that these four years were due to parents paying tuition and the College's endowment, which has helped to subsidize your education, and I hope you will have an attitude and a desire to pay back by supporting this institution.

As an example of joy derived from my philanthropy, I would like share from two letters that I recently received. The first came from the recipient of the Perry Scholarship. She's a freshman, and she said, "Let me begin by saying a huge thank you. The money that I've received from the scholarship funds that you donated have launched me into a career at a college I have fallen in love with. I made the dean's list. I cannot wait to continue my journey here and to see what more the land of the Bobcat has to offer."

Coincidentally, this came from a young lady whose grandfather I roomed with and played football with, and I had no awareness that she was on the campus. This is a great feeling of gratitude for a small contribution being made.

The second letter was quite a surprise and it came from my daughter-in-law. I received it on the same day I received the letter in regard the fact that I would be standing at this podium today.

She says, "Today my father would have been 94. He taught me a lot, in many ways. However, there was one thing that I did not learn from him. Generosity, love, kindness and finances toward others besides his blood children. Your generosity comes in many ways and extends in many directions. I want to thank you for being who you are, and to tell you that your generosity has touched me and made my life better, and made me a better person."

Although the letter I received telling me about this honorary degree was certainly special and will always be special, this other letter was very important to me. In closing, I am going to quote Abraham Lincoln, who once said, "In the end, it is not the years in your life that count, it is the life in your years."

Commencement 2009 remarks by Robert M. Franklin Jr., recipient of the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters

Cornel West calls Robert Franklin "one of the most prophetic leaders and visionary thinkers of his generation." An educator and author of national stature, Franklin is the 10th president of his alma mater, Morehouse College, a historically black institution and the nation's largest liberal arts college for men. Franklin's major fields of study include social ethics, psychology and African American religion. A native of Chicago, Franklin has served on the faculties of the Divinity School at the University of Chicago, where he received his doctorate, and the Harvard Divinity School, where he received his master's, as well as Colgate Rochester Crozer Divinity School and the Candler School of Theology, where he gained a national reputation as director of black church studies.

President Hansen, Trustees, Professor Bruce (I'd much rather have heard you go on for another four minutes!), "Dr." Davis [laughter and applause; see first paragraph of Davis address], fellow distinguished honorands, and the amazing Class of 2009.

On behalf of Morehouse College, its 2,800 students and 15,000 living alumni spread across the globe, we thank Bates College for this honor today that I count as a collective honor. Morehouse College thanks Bates College for our greatest president, Bates alumnus Benjamin Elijah Mays. When Dr. Mays arrived at Morehouse, he attracted to himself students like Martin Luther King Jr., Julian Bond, Maynard Jackson, Surgeon General David Satcher, Olympic gold medalist Edwin Moses, and many others. But today, Morehouse stands alongside Bates to say thank you for your long tradition of social justice, of progressive social vision for the world, and your commitment to liberal arts education.

My word for you today is simply three: Become, Beware, Be.

Become Renaissance women and Renaissance men. In a time when there's increasingly national anxiety about national defense, national prosperity and national competitiveness – to be sure all three are important – it is exceedingly important that American democracy have citizens and leaders in every walk of life who are broadly educated. So our charge is to carry with you the mission and the tradition of broad learning. Become women and men who are well-read, well-spoken, well-traveled, well-dressed and well-balanced. Become Renaissance women and Renaissance men with social conscience and global perspective. Every one of you, as leaders of our society, must be familiar with finance, physics, and philosophy.

Second: beware. This word from Mahatma Gandhi. Beware of the seven deadly sins of modern life. Politics without principle. Wealth without work. Commerce without morality. Science without humanity. Education without culture and character. Pleasure without conscience. And worship without sacrifice.

Finally, the word from Martin Luther King Jr.: Be transformed nonconformists. In one of his famous speeches, Dr. King said, "This hour in history needs a dedicated circle of transformed nonconformists. The saving of our world will come not from the actions of a conforming majority but from the creative maladjustment" – isn't that a great phrase? – "of a transformed minority." Become Renaissance men and women. Beware the deadly sins of modern life, and be transformed nonconformists.

Carry with you the words of Rabbi Hillel: "The world is equally balanced between good and evil. Your next act will tip the scale." Thank you.

Commencement 2009 remarks by Mimi A.R. Koehl, recipient of the honorary degree Doctor of Science

The way a poet seeks an apt metaphor, biomechanics researcher Mimi Koehl finds poetry and truth in the physical structures of living things. The Gill Professor of Integrative Biology at the University of California, Berkeley, Koehl once said that the organisms she studies "are beautiful if you simply look at them but even more beautiful when you understand how they work." A past recipient of a MacArthur "genius award," Koehl combines techniques from fluid and solid mechanics with those from biology, working in the laboratory and, famously, the field, because to understand how form affects function, "you need to know what [an organism] does in nature."

I am so honored to be recognized in this way by Bates College, so thank all of you. Being here is bringing back lots of memories from my own undergraduate experience at a small liberal arts college.

I want to see a show of hands from the graduates. How many of you were caused to take a course in a subject that you would not have chosen to study otherwise? As Trish [Morse '60, citation presenter] said, I was an art major and I was caused to take a science distribution requirement, and it changed my life. One of the main messages that I want to get across to you who have had a liberal arts education is don't be afraid to cross boundaries. A lot of the problems facing the world today are so complicated that it is going to take people who can talk across boundaries and work across boundaries to solve them.

We need more than just scientists and economists. We need humanists, as well, to work together to solve these complicated problems. You who have had a liberal arts education are probably better prepared than most people to be able to work in this new world and make it a better place. You're graduating during challenging economic times, and you may not have your dream job right away. But that doesn't mean life can't be interesting or rewarding.

One thing I should mention is that we carry with us an education that makes us see pieces of the world more deeply than other people. We can see these flowers, and they are pretty to everybody but to me they are really gorgeous because I understand the physics of how water is transported through them. Those of you who are biochemistry majors probably think they are really cool because you understand photosynthesis. And those of you who studied other fields can perceive pieces of the world around you with more depth and understanding and appreciation than the rest of us. Don't forget that.

You've learned how to learn here. The challenge that I would like to give to you today is, at the end of every day, as you go forward from here, ask yourself, "What did I learn today?" If you didn't perceive your world enough to learn anything new, then live tomorrow differently. Life may be hard. But don't let it be boring or superficial.

Commencement 2009 remarks by Fareed Zakaria, recipient of the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters

Fareed Zakaria, described by Esquire magazine as "the most influential foreign policy adviser of his generation," is widely respected for his ability to spot economic and political trends around the world. Zakaria's cover stories and columns on subjects from globalization and emerging markets to the Middle East and Americas role in the world reach more than 25 million readers weekly. He also is the host of a weekly international news program, Fareed Zakaria GPS, that airs on CNN worldwide.

Thank you so much, Michael [Chu '80, citation presenter]. Thank you Madame President. I gather that there is a Bates College tradition of staying up all night before this morning. I can tell why so many of you have dark glasses on even though there is no sun. I must have been a Batesie in a previous life, because the night before my college graduation, I fulfilled this Bates College tradition, but alas did not make it to my commencement ceremony, so I am deeply impressed by all of you being here today.

It's a little bit tough for me despite those very kind words that Michael Chu said. I've never really thought of myself as being at the advice-giving age yet. I find this a little more difficult to do than one would imagine.

There's this wonderful scene in Woody Allen's Radio Days. The young Woody Allen is listening to the radio and the mother is horrified to see this. The mother says, "Stop listening to the radio. It's going to ruin you." This was in the day that people thought that Cole Porter and Gershwin were bad for your moral health. Woody Allen looks at her and says, "But Ma, you listen to the radio all day. " And she says, "Ah, that's different. My life is ruined already."

My life is not quite ruined yet, so I'm a little reluctant to give you advice. We face a difficult period for those of us out in the world. Art Buchwald once gave a very short graduation speech. He said, "Ladies and gentlemen. We're leaving behind a perfect world. Don't screw it up."

I think it's difficult for any of us to make that claim to you right now. We are going through a very difficult time. Whether it is geopolitically or economically, clearly these are awkward and difficult moments for you to graduate in to. But let me tell you why I remain very optimistic, and this is the short message I want to leave you with.

I remain extremely optimistic about the world you are going into and your opportunities because of you. This entirely relates to change, something Geena Davis began talking about. Let me give you one example. About a month ago, the World Health Organization declared that there was a global pandemic relating to swine flu and warned that there would be deaths probably in the hundreds of thousands. As of now we have had as many deaths and confirmed infections as from a normal seasonal case of influenza. Why is that?

Is it because we all panicked and got it wrong? No, the swine flu had many characteristics of a virus that led one to be very troubled. But what happened was that the World Health Organization issued its warning and people acted. People acted fast and energetically, particularly fast and energetically in the epicenter of the crisis, in Mexico. The Mexican government basically quarantined everyone who had the disease, inoculated those who it could, provided drugs for most people, which was the most effective treatment. Most importantly, it shut down its areas of common meeting places, shut down its economy for virtually three weeks in order to stop the progress of this flu. It seems that by doing that they largely stopped the virus in its tracks.

The point I'm trying to make is that we can all very easily describe the problems that the world faces – economic, environmental, geopolitical – but what is always very difficult to describe is the human response to the problems. In the 1760s, an English clerk, Thomas Malthus, predicted that England would run out of food and that its population would starve in a famous essay called, "The Essay on Population." Malthus was entirely right in describing the problem. He did not understand the human response. England invented an agricultural revolution, then an industrial revolution, went on not simply to feed its people but a large part of the world.

If you look at the current economic crisis, we can all describe all the problems we face. But it is very difficult to know what you will do in response to it. What we will do in response to it. What government will do, what industry will do, what nonprofit organizations will do, and how the collective human response will thus change history.

If you look at the last 200 or 300 years, it is a story of challenge and response. And it is much easier to describe the structural challenges we face than to describe the human response to those challenges that will change history.

So if you ask what the future holds, I don't know because I don't know what you will do. And it really is up to you to decide what you are going to do. But you will do something because in every small way that you act, you act as productive economic beings, as moral beings, as social beings, and in all those actions, when collected together you change history.

That is my simple message to you. Recognize that you are the change you seek. You are the great agents of change in the world. When you look at all these forces – the rise of China, the rise of India – whatever it is, remember you can adapt to them. You can embrace them. You can respond to them in ways that will better your life, better the life of your society. You cannot ignore them. You cannot fight them. But what you can do is adapt and make the world a better place.

It is an extraordinary moment to be coming into the world because in the first time in human history people around the world are achieving some level of human dignity in terms of their rise out of poverty. If you would have asked me 30 years ago how many countries were growing at 4 percent a year, that number would have been about 30. Today it is about 130. You have an extraordinary new world out there with all kinds of human talent being unleashed.

To have that money people consuming, producing, investing, dreaming, singing, praying – this has to be a good thing. It's a world that is ultimately going to have many more opportunities than the world I grew up in and that my parents grew up in.

What does this mean in terms of what industry you should go into? I don't know. I don't know whether nanotechnology or biotechnology is the wave of the future. I don't know if you should become investment banks or artists. Investment banking isn't looking so hot these days though.

But I will tell you something very simple and obvious, which is that it is likely that human beings will find fulfillment and will be rewarded for the same qualities that they have been rewarded for for 5,000 years. And that is intelligence, hard work, honesty, a sense of character, loyalty to family and friends, and above all love and faith.

If you are trying to decide what you should do, those are the things you should do. And you know it. The difficult thing is acting on them. I leave you with that simple advice. If you are trying to figure out what to do in the future, for 5,000 years people have built statues to men and women who have had those characteristics. They are likely to do the same, or they won't build statues anymore. They'll build weird modernist pieces of art, mobile sculptures with strange do-dads on them. You get the general point.

Ladies and gentlemen of the Class of 2009, God speed.

Special Thanks to Jay Burns and Phyllis Graber Jensen of Communications and Media Relations and Dean of Student Activities Keith Tannenbaum for always providing incredible photos of Bates' multi-faceted campus life, Sue Dionne and Ed Plourde of Accounting for keeping all of our budgetary concerns in line, Sports Information Director Andy Walter, Janet Ciummei of Northeast Pro Photo, Shirley Govindasamy and Dot Letourneau of Human Resources, Ed Jawor of Office Services, Mark Maserjian of Portrait Imaging Co. in Poughkeepsie, NY, our Jostens rep Ryan Shimala for his indispensable guidance for the past two years, our Jostens plant consultant Sandy Moses for overseeing our publication with an inscrutable attention to detail, our continually supportive faculty advisor Gene Clough, the students who actually read all (or any) of our countless emails, and all those from the greater Bates community who helped make this edition of the Mirror Yearbook possible.

And a very, very special thanks to Abby and Maggie, who took on more than we could have ever hoped, and whose dedication and support have proven invaluable from the very beginning and through the most extenuating of circumstances. As our four years with the Mirror and our two-year tenure as Co-Editors-in-Chief come to an end, we know that they will continue to produce books that exceed those that came before it, and we are excited to see how the Mirror will evolve under their direction. We wish you the best of luck!
